INTRODUCTION

The University of Ibadan library reserves the responsibility to acquire, organise, maintain and provide accessible, quality educational resources and effective services to support the teaching, learning and research mandates of the institution. Pursuant to the actualization of this responsibility, the University operates a three tier library system with Kenneth Dike Library (KDL) as the main library and central hub of the system. Other libraries in the system are the Latunde Odeku Medical Library which is located about eight (8) kilometers away at the College of Medicine and 26 Faculty, Departmental/Institute libraries.

Over the years, the physical collections of these libraries have grown and are still growing such that the extant aggregate holding of learning resources in the system is estimated at well over five million volumes. Also, the University Library deploys modern technologies and analogue resources in the provision of hybrid library services to meet the exceptional needs and aspirations of its sophisticated clientele. Thus, in addition to the physical collections, the Library subscribes to a number of electronic databases and curates many other relevant sources to meet specific academic needs of its patrons.

All routine activities and sections of the Library are automated such that the bibliographic records of the physical collections are held in digital formats and easily retrievable, thereby ensuring seamless access to the Library resources anytime, anywhere as long as there is internet connectivity. This guide attempts to help you find your way around the library and gives you the basic information necessary for effective use of its print/electronic resources and services. It is therefore my earnest desire that you take full advantage of the robust Library System in the University and maximize the use of its resources for excellence in your academic endeavours.

I welcome you to the University of Ibadan Library System and to your Era of unlimited academic success as you sojourn in the University.

Dr. Mercy A. Iroaganachi

Admission to the Library

The library is open to all 'members' of the University community, and also open to Senior Staff of the University College Hospital, Ibadan and Alumni/Alumnae of the University. Anyone else with cogent reasons for using it may also be admitted to use the library for study and reference purposes only. In all cases, the claims of scholarship and research are given first consideration. It is also open to staff and students of other Nigerian universities especially those who are introduced by their respective University Librarians.

Registration

1. All students and staff of are required to fill the library registration form and also produce two passport photographs. This will lead to an issuance of a “library identification card” for members of the University system only. This card is valid for the duration of a programme.
2. Persons who wish to make regular use of the library and who are not eligible under the terms above must make personal application to the librarian for such permission. Demands on library facilities from within the university make it increasingly necessary to grant this only in exceptional cases. The claims of scholarship and research are given preference.
3. Each reader is registered with the privilege of borrowing.
4. Books must be returned immediately when on recall.
5. Books may not be taken away from Ibadan without the prior permission of the university librarian.
6. All books borrowed from the library should be returned before a reader goes on leave or leaves Ibadan.
7. Reader’s identification cards are not transferable and all borrowing and renewals must be made in person.
8. All users must take along their library identification card which must be produced upon demand in the library.
9. Readers must submit their bags, books or any materials they are carrying while leaving the library for checking at the check points.
10. Silence is requested in and around the library. Use of cell phone is not allowed in the library; therefore, all cell phones must be put off as readers enter the library.
11. Edibles of all kinds are prohibited in the library (except in the coffee room).

Borrowing

1. Identify the book you need from the shelves after consulting the card catalogues or OPAC.
2. Online borrowing of a book, already identified by a user can be done online from any location.
3. Visit the Circulation desk to physically collect the book that was borrowed online.

4. For manual borrowing:

- a. identify the book you need from the shelves after consulting the catalogues;
 - b. ensure that the book is in good condition and that no pages are missing before taking it to circulation desk;
 - c. show your library identification card to the library assistant;
 - d. ensure that the book is properly charged out;
 - e. by filling the loans cards from book pocket;
 - f. ensure that the date due slip is stamped correctly to avoid embarrassment at the check points;
 - g. ensure that the record of the loan is properly entered in your account on the computer system.
5. Do not allow others to use your library identification card.

NOTE: The book is now in your keeping. It is important that the “date-due” slip does not drop out of the book.

Number of Loans Permitted for Readers

The maximum number of books permitted for a loan period is four (4) for undergraduates, six (6) for post graduate/research students and ten (10) for academic or faculty staff.

Duration of Loans

The normal duration of loan is two weeks for undergraduate and one month for research students, Academic and Non-teaching staff. However, a loan may be renewed on application for one further period as long as no other user requests for the material. After that, it must be returned. Academic staff with special reasons are requested to state clearly the length of a loan period required if they desire to use the material beyond the stipulated time.

Returning of books

Books should be returned before or on the due date to the Lending Desk at which they were charged out. Readers must ensure that the Assistants physically receive the books from them. Books borrowed must be returned in good condition.

Overdue Notices/Fine

The only notice of due date is the date imprinted in the transaction slip and stamped in the date due slip inside the book at the time of loan. However, a first notice that a book is overdue for return is sent a week after due date. After this, another notice may be the final notice after which it is assumed that the book is lost and the library will demand replacement.

Fines at the rate of Fifty Naira (N50.00) per book per day must be paid for the period a book is overdue. Books lost or damaged should be reported immediately and paid for at the circulation desk. All cases of stealing, mutilations or defacing of books will be regarded as serious offence.

Holiday Loans

Readers resident in Ibadan can apply to the University Librarian through the Circulation Librarian for book loan at usual loan periods.

Inter Library Loans

Required item(s) not held by the library can usually be obtained for readers from another library. All inter library loans requests are to be directed to the Reference Librarian, who will interface with a sister library and notify the reader on the receipt of the materials. The term will then be treated as normal loan at the circulation desk.

Circulation Desk (See Picture 2 in the Gallery)

Carrels

Limited number of carrels in the library is reserved primarily for graduate students. Application may be made to the University Librarian through the Reference Librarian for usage for an assigned period.

Lost but found items

Lost but found items are held at the circulation desk. Identifiable items are returned to the owners while all unclaimed items are forwarded to the information desk.

Library Rules and Regulations

- No eating or drinking in the library
- Perfect silence is required in the library

- Mobile phones can be used in SILENCE MODE ONLY

LIBRARY RESOURCES

Print Resources

The University library system has about two million volumes of books and 8,000 journal titles. There are two main categories of print collections - circulating and non-circulating collections.

- Circulating Collections: These collections can be found on the 1st Floor East, 2nd Floor West, 3rd Floor East and 4th Floor West. The books on these floors can be borrowed.
- Non-Circulating Collections: These are Reference, Serials, and Closed Access materials. They cannot be borrowed.

Africana Collections

The library has a large and in many ways unique reference collection of historical materials on Africa, West Africa and Nigeria. These materials date back to the colonial and precolonial era. Some are so rare that they are only available in this library.

Nigeriana Collections

This collection is a fully inter-disciplinary comprising all subjects available in all the faculties of the University. This collection is highly robust, containing all locally published books i.e. books published in Nigeria by Nigerians. It is well organized using the library of Congress (LC) Classification Scheme. The shelves are well labeled for easy access. This section is very important to all category of students and researchers who need local materials for their academic endeavors. The books are strictly non loanable. They are available for access and consultations at the unit situated in the basement below the research library close to the Serials section.

Arabic Books Collection

This collection contains materials that are fundamental to the study of Nigerian and African history as well as general resources relating to the Islamic discipline. In particular, there are many original Arabic manuscripts of local provenance. These are supplemented by an extensive microfilm files of Arabic writings collected from several private Libraries in West Africa. The manuscripts are located in the west wing of the fourth floor of the Undergraduate Section and the Research Library.

Maps Collection

The Library has a collection of more than ten thousand maps. Special emphasis is on maps of Africa, particularly West Africa and Nigeria. The map collection is located in a special map room on the fourth floor of the main (Undergraduate) building where they can be consulted. Atlases are however housed in the Research Library.

Manuscripts Collection

The Library has made special efforts to develop a collection of private papers and manuscripts particularly relevant to Nigerian studies. In this regard, it has been - fortunate in acquiring the papers of many eminent Nigerians and persons connected with Nigerian history. Among these are the papers of the father of Nigerian Nationalism, the late Herbert Macaulay (1864-1946) whose vast collection of assorted political diaries, business documents, photographs and personal papers of all kinds numbering several thousand individual items, making it the most significant collection of private papers in the Library.

Others include; the private papers of the late Bishop S.C. Phillips, a one - time Bishop of Ibadan Diocese and Vicar- General in the Anglican Church, the Egba Documents presented by the late Alake of Abeokuta, Sir Ladapo Ademola, the photographs, journals and, clippings of E.R. Jerrim (1888-1962), an associate editor of West Africa Newspaper from 1921 till 1939; the private papers of Chief Akinpelu Obisesan (1887-1963); Rev. E.M. Lijadu; Rev. I.O. Ransome Kuti, Apostle J.O. Ositelu, Mr. W.F. Sesan and others. In recent times, many of these private donations go to the relevant faculty libraries mainly at the request of the donors.

Government Publications

These includes acquisitions from the Federal, regions and state governments of the Federal Republic of Nigeria as well as publications of various inter-government organizations (and their specialized agencies), such as UN, OAU, ECOWAS etc. Such as documents of UN 1954-1964 and Hansard (G.B)1803-1908.

Publications Ordinance/Legal Deposit

This is a collection of materials acquired by legal deposit. In 1950 it became a legal requirement for publishers throughout the country to deposit two copies of their books, journals, pamphlets, gazettes, sheets of music, maps, plans, etc. with the Kenneth Dike Library, as it was designated the national depository for Nigerian publications. For twenty years University of Ibadan Library remained the national legal depository for the country. However, the Library cannot claim to have a complete collection of legal deposit or Publications Ordinance materials as from 1950 till date.

First, the establishment of regional governments occasioned the repeal of the 1950 Ordinance by all three regional governments and substituted with local publications laws in 1955, 1956 and 1964 for the Eastern, Western and Northern regions respectively. The Eastern and Western regional publications laws however still named the University of Ibadan Library a legal depository for publications emanating from their regions. But the Northern Region 1964 publications law gave this privilege to the Ahmadu Bello University Library. Irrespective of the 1964 publication laws, publishers in the Northern Region still generally felt compelled to uphold the injunction of the 1950 Ordinance.

The situation changed with the creation of States in 1967 and in June 1970, the National Library Decree (Decree No. 9 of 1970) was passed which effectively transferred the role of legal deposit from the University of Ibadan Library to the National Library of Nigeria in Lagos. Thus, the national bibliography of Nigerian Publications, hitherto published by the University of Ibadan Library has since 1970, been published by the National Library of Nigeria. However, the 1970 Decree mandated that the University of Ibadan Library receive one copy of each legal deposit material sent to the National Library, and many publishers still send two copies of their publications to UI Library purely on complimentary basis. Thus, in spite of vicissitudes of the time, the University of Ibadan Library collection of government publications and other legal deposit materials is fairly comprehensive, very rich in unique items, and valuable for research.

Theses Collection

A collection of theses submitted for the award of the Ph.D degree at Ibadan University is kept in the Theses Room. Theses can be consulted on request at the control desk of the Research Library.

Reference Collection

Reference Section of the library is located at the ground floor West extension of Kenneth Dike Library. It was established in 1969 to cater for the expansion of the university library system. The Reference Section is also referred to as Research Library where post graduate students and staff could use reference materials for research purposes. Specifically, this section attends to day-to-day information queries of the postgraduate students and staff of University of Ibadan. The use of the Research Library is also extended to external researchers based on referral letter. Collections in this section include; Theses and Dissertations, Dictionaries, Encyclopedias, Atlas, Maps, Yearbooks, Africana materials, Proceedings, Calendars, Gazettes, Arabic manuscripts, Newspapers, Indexes and Abstracts among others which serve the specific information needs of library users. The Reference Section has a seating capacity of 400. There is regular supply of electricity supply to the section through alternate sources of power generation such as inverter and solar. (See Picture 3 in the Gallery)

Newspapers

The Library subscribes to some important Nigerian newspapers. These are displayed in the General Reading Room. One month issues are kept for consultation in the Reserved Book Room while the back issues are kept in the Africana Section of the Research Library.

The Systems Unit

The systems unit of Kenneth Dike Library is divided into three (3) sub-units; namely: the technical sub-unit; digitization sub-unit; and the electronic resources sub-unit. The collective responsibility of all these sub-units is to set up a sustainable platform for Information Technology (IT) implementation in the entire University of Ibadan Library system, particularly in respect of rendering effective information services delivery to the users of our great Library. (See Picture 4 in the Gallery).

ELECTRONIC RESOURCES

The Library subscribes to and provides access to electronic resources and is committed to increasing its e-resources, such as e-books and e-journals.

Institutional Repository (IR)

The Institutional Repository (IR) contains the intellectual outputs of staff of the University. The contents of the UIIR include lecturers' publications, lectures, and theses to mention but a few. Wider visibility is provided to UIIR through UISPACE available on the University of Ibadan webpage under the Library's website. It is also accessible through the World Wide Web via the URL (Universal Resource Locator) ir.library.ui.edu.ng.

EXPLOITATION OF LIBRARY RESOURCES

The library catalogue gives an inventory of what the library has.

1. Manual Card Catalogue: The main catalogue is on the ground floor located in the 24-Hours library service space. It is in two parts the Author/Title Catalogue; the subject catalogue.

2. Online Public Access Catalogue (OPAC). The online public access catalogue is web based and is accessible to users at the Circulation section and anywhere else. There are 10 computer workstations dedicated to the purpose of accessing library holdings. Training on how to search for materials on the shelves through the OPAC is done through students' orientation in the library.

Step-by-step guide to accessing KDL OPAC

1. Connect to the library wifi – i.e. kdlwireless or circulationAP (if within the library) OR
2. Login to <http://ils.library.ui.edu.ng> (outside the library from any smart device)
3. Type 10.0.43.3:8080 on your browser
4. Click on OPAC
5. Search: Materials may be searched using: Author, Title, Subject and Keywords.

LIBRARY SERVICES/ FACILITIES

1. Inter-Library Loan

The library also assists users in getting documents not available in the library within the country and from outside the country. Request for such can be done through the information desk or through the reference librarian. (This may be treated as inter library loan).

2. Bindery Section

The Library has its own Bindery situated in the basement of the Research Library. The Bindery section is responsible for binding all categories of print materials in the library. These include journals, textbooks, worn out books, theses and dissertations of students. The Kenneth Dike Library was given the statutory duty of binding postgraduate Theses and Dissertations emanating from the University. The Library seal and University Logo are, however, imprinted on them after binding. (See Picture 8 in the Gallery).

3. Document Delivery Services

Photocopies of journal articles, papers and theses held by the library are allowed for institutions or individuals provided that copyright restrictions do not forbid the reproduction of such materials. Reproductions of materials not held by the library may be obtained from institutions holding them. If requests are made to the reference librarian, a cost is charged to the requesting individual or department.

4. Electronic Classroom (E-classroom)

The E-classroom is a multimedia learning facility equipped with 31 workstations; 1 for teacher/instructor and 30 for students. All PCs are networked and internet ready. It is intended for interactive, hands-on training sessions, and is subject to group and individual use (Restricted Access Only).

5. E-Library (1st Floor West).

A computer facility that has the capacity to hold 100 PCs with laptop bays suitable for teaching and research. Access to internet and locally held information resources are available. Scanning and colored printing services are also available.

6. Carrels

Research carrels are individual study areas located on the 2nd and 3rd floors of the main building and on both floors of the research library. Allocation to senior staff, research workers and postgraduate students is made on request at the control desk of the research library.

7. 24 hours Library Services

The Library provides a 24-Hour reading service to cater for the need of users. The space is opened 24 hours for users from Monday to Sunday and on public holidays. The 24-hour reading space is located on the ground floor of the library. It is accessed via the third entrance to the library when the main library closes. The space is for reading only, and is tastefully furnished for the purpose.

8. The Chat Room

The need for a library user to have a space to relax and chat with other users in the library cannot be over emphasized. Kenneth Dike Library is poised to aligning with standard best practices in the provision of diverse learning experiences through leisure and other modes. Thus, in a bid to meet up with international standards, the Library created a convenient purpose deigned and attractive physical ambiance for library users to relax and chat while learning. The chat room can conveniently sit thirty five (35) users at a time. The space is fully air conditioned and there is a large TV screen connected to a satellite dish for users' leisure. It is located on the first floor of the library and is a beautiful and comfortable place to escape to, from the conventional reading space. The chat room is designed with sound proof technology that prevents noise from filtering out to disturb the peace and tranquility of the library. There are rules and regulations guiding the use of the space and users are enjoined to adhere strictly to the rules and regulations, as is strategically displayed in the chat room for user's perusal.
