VICE-CHANCELLOR FELICITATES MUSLIM COMMUNITY ON EID-IL-FITRI

I extend my warm felicitations to the Muslim Ummah within the University community and beyond on the successful completion of the holy month of Ramadan and the celebration of Eid-il-Fitri.

Eid-il-Fitri is a significant milestone marking the end of a month-long spiritual journey of fasting, prayer, and reflection. I commend the Muslim community for their steadfastness, discipline, and devotion throughout the sacred month.

Ramadan period offered profound lessons in sacrifice, compassion, and self-restraint - virtues that remain essential for personal development and institutional growth. I urge all staff and students to internalise these values and apply them in their daily interactions, thereby fostering an atmosphere of mutual respect, understanding, peace and harmony within the University community.

As we celebrate this joyous occasion, I encourage everyone to reflect on the spiritual gains of Ramadan and sustain the spirit of generosity, kindness, and unity that the holy month inspired. These are the pillars upon which a great academic community is built.

I pray that Almighty Allah would accept all acts of worship and supplications offered during the holy month, grant the faithfuls the strength to uphold the lessons learnt, and bless the University of Ibadan with continued peace, progress, and excellence in its noble mission of teaching, research, and community service.

I wish all Muslims and all members of the university community a blissful, rewarding, and memorable Eid-il-Fitri celebration.
