Audio resources are available in the Social Sciences. The University Radio Diamond FM.101 is now being used for lectures and tutorials. The scheduled will be available online.

E. Orientation and Matriculation

Orientation and Matriculation provide opportunities for students to interact and socialize with fellow students on regular and distance learning mode. It also affords them the opportunity to integrate and be familiar with University's culture and traditions. Academic Counsellors, Advisors, Service Providers and Tutors will be available to assist students during the period.

F. Information/Students Support Opportunities are also available

INTERACTIVE SESSIONS: Candidates are expected to have registered and obtained their Learning Materials at the beginning of the session, which starts when DLC UI students register for courses. Interactive sessions are designed for revision and contact between students and tutors. During this period, students are required to be in residence for between three to six weeks for revision depending on the course. Thereafter students will be given opportunity to revise for about two weeks before examinations. However, between the collection of Learning Materials and interactive session, each student will be attached to an Academic Advisor for Tutorial assistance. Also, students will be encouraged to form tutorial and revision groups both online or at designated Centres. Students who have obtained sufficient support may apply to be excused from the interactive session; however, students are to ensure participation in ALL assignments and Continuous Assessments (CA).

Please NOTE that students are expected to have studied the course materials with the tutorial support by Academic Advisors before interactive sessions. Also, some assignments and tests will be given during the period and these will count as part of assessment.
